

bcc Berliner Congress Center | more than just good looks

Constructed in the 60s, the building was renovated at the beginning of the millenium for more than just reasons of preservation to become the bcc. The operating company could draw on an experience of more than ten thousand events when designing the room layout, compiling the extensive equipment and developing an integral service concept.

A congress centre needs to have its finger on the pulse. Events in the bcc become an encounter with Berlin. Located in the heart of the city, we benefit from ideal traffic and public transport connections.

In the bcc's basic prices many expenses and extra costs typically related to conferences are already covered.

Hundreds of sockets, not just for power of different voltages, but inter alia also for networks and sound systems reduce setup times and ease the daily event routine.

The bcc standard technical equipment comprises equipment essential for the realisation of events. This includes among other things a sound system, lectern and podium microphones, a data and video projector, a screen, a presentation notebook and a wireless remote control for PowerPoint.

The bcc presentation management offers a central media collection point for the technical checking, revision and distribution of presentation data via the bcc network into the relevant lecture rooms.

The bcc hall managers assume all co-ordination and organisation tasks within the lecture halls. They greet each speaker, assist in the launch of presentations, supervise sound and media technology, switch the room lights and refill speakers' drinks. Furthermore, they are in direct contact with the media collection point, the sound and media technicians and the front office (central control of building services, air conditioning, ventilation and heating).
